Russia’s Commodities Market 2021 will be hosted by the Saint Petersburg International Mercantile Exchange (SPIMEX). This is the key industry event dedicated to organized commodity trading in Russia. Over the past years the Forum has acquired the status of an open platform for discussing the most topical issues of the organized commodity market and has become a leading inter-industry venue for communication between regulators and trading participants.

Heads of key Russian ministries and agencies will traditionally be the speakers to the Forum: the Ministry of Energy, the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Federal Antimonopoly Service of Russia (FAS), the Bank of Russia, Russian Parliament, regional authorities, , Russian and foreign companies that trade on SPIMEX.

The Forum’s participants will discuss the promotion of competition and ways to increase the transparency in industries using exchange technologies, the implementation of the National Competition Promotion Plan, expansion of on-exchange trading into new industries and regions of Russia, the price analytics of commodity markets, and the development of related services for trading participants.

The forum will also host the ‘Russia’s Organized Commodities Market’ Annual Award Ceremony at which we will celebrate the industry's top performers.

The Forum’s agenda is being prepared at the moment.
